ANTI-AGEING EDUCATION EARNS RACGP TICK

The AustralAsian Academy of Anti-Ageing Medicine (A5M) is now an Accredited Education Provider under the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (RACGP).

A5M Chairman, Bill Anton said A5M educators recently underwent extensive testing to obtain Accredited Provider Status for RACGP Quality Assurance and Continuing Professional Development (QA&CPD) Program.

“GPs can now earn required professional development points while training in Anti-Ageing, Regenerative and Functional Medicine,” Mr Anton said.

“Anti-Ageing Medicine is the world’s fastest growing medical specialty with the market expected to reach nearly USD$72 billion this year.

“A5M offers quality clinical training by recognised experts in the field of Anti-Ageing, Functional and Nutritional Medicine.

The A5M Fellowship includes:

- Bio-Identical Hormone Therapy
- Thyroid Disease
- Coronary Artery Disease
- Gastroenterology
- Neurology
- Fatty Acid Metabolism
- Advanced Nutrition And Detoxification.
- Clinical Intensive : Case Studies in Anti-ageing Medicine
- 40 Interactive web broadcasts

The RACGP QA & CPD program aims to ensure all GPs are provided with opportunities to participate in high quality educational activities that emphasise patient safety.

A minimum of 130 points is required for each triennium and must include two Category 1 activities, and completion of a basic cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) course. Points will be allocated for all A5M events.
